

Gompers then turned to the open shop movement.

"When did the slave owner do anything to aid his slaves?" Gompers said. "The open shop drive is designed to weaken the spirit of working men so as to lower the standard of life and further cut wages."

TO UNCOVER BIBLICAL CITY

Thorough Exploration of the Site of Beth-Shan Is Expected to Yield Important Information.

Relics of seven or more cities which successively stood on the same site and of nine different civilizations are expected to be uncovered by the excavation of the biblical city Beth-shan, in Palestine, which is to be undertaken in June. The work will be done under the direction of Clarence S. Fisher, curator of the Egyptian section of the museum of the University of Pennsylvania. Official permission to undertake this work has been received from the government of Palestine.

Beth-shan is now known as Beisan. It is situated in the valley of Jezreel, just west of the Jordan and not far south of the Sea of Galilee.

More great battles are believed to have taken place within sight of this city than, perhaps, on any other spot known to history. The investigators hope to find there the keys to the whole history of that section of the world written either on marble slabs containing the laws, decrees, treaties and other information or on bronze tablets or written in clay with cuneiform characters.

Beth-shan was a strategic point of value to any of the great military leaders of ancient times who aspired to try his hand at world domination. It was on the route of all the builders of ancient empires. Beginning 5,000 years ago, it suffered the blows of the armies of Sargon, Abraham, Hammurabi, Sennacherib, Nebuchadnezzar, Thothmes, Saul, David, Alexander, Pompey and Napoleon. Joshua led his troops against Beth-shan, but could not take it, because its defenders used iron chariots—precursors of the tanks in the World war. The crusaders made Beth-shan a point of attack in their vain efforts to conquer Damascus. When the Assyrians came down like a wolf on the fold, Beth-shan was one of the places they took and it has been dominated in turn by Greeks, Romans and Arabs.

The investigators expect to find there the strata of perhaps more than seven cities, each built upon the ruins of the other, as successive waves of invasion swept over and destroyed it. It is within sight of the Mount of Transfiguration, the scenes of battles between David and Saul, and the Witch of Endor, who recalled the shade of the prophet Samuel to enlighten Saul, had her home near this ancient city whose secrets now are sought.

Ready for the Unexpected.

In case of any unusual damage as by reason of an explosion or accident of any kind it is desirable to get the debris out of the way as soon as possible and to remove other evidences of the affair. It was thought that in the United States this work was usually done with great promptitude. In the case of railroad collisions it is quite common for every evidence of the affair to be removed in a few hours so completely that it is a difficult thing to locate the scene. In the case of the bomb planting on Wall street, in two hours a great deal of the damage had been repaired and at 4 o'clock the same afternoon a few boarded up windows was about all to be seen of the fearful damage that had been done. But in Paris these incidents are more common and the authorities are on the alert to meet them. There are maintained a regularly organized department for such emergencies and it is always on the job with the same promptness that an American fire company answers the alarm. The work is subdivided among trained squads and every part of it is attacked at once. Even a torn up street is repaired in a few hours.

How Neatsfoot Oil Is Made.

Neatsfoot oil is obtained from ox or cow heels by boiling them in water and skimming off the oil. The oil so obtained is kept gently heated by means of warm water until all the water has subsided from it, when the clear portion is poured off and, if necessary, filtered.

All Want More.

THE FRILLS OF FASHION

It may be painting the rose, but one of the liveliest of vestees in an imported suit was made from rich-colored Japanese embroidery. Its heavy flower patterns were brought out by a white silk floss outline.

Plumets is a new dotted swiss, and a most effective afternoon frock material which shows small printed rose-gay patterns as well as the embroidered dots. This is to be had in a wide variety of delicate colorings.

Honey dew is the color which brought back macramé lace. An overblouse of honey dew crepe de chine is gathered into a deep band of lace which fits slightly at the waistline. A two-tone ribbon runs through the band and lies at one side in long loops and streamers.

The new drop-stitch voiles are fine and sheer and adapt themselves readily to the making of soft, youthful afternoon frocks. These voiles are a most colorful collection indeed, in such shades as lemon, yellow saffron, jade, orchid, old blue, shell pink, coral, flamingo and platinum.

Mirage organdies come principally in the pastel shades and show a ring, a dot or a small square of a slightly paler shade than the material itself, the figure resembling a stamp and not being of the printed variety. Other mirage organdies have overwork of dainty embroidery or chain stitching. A striking pattern on rose-colored mirage organdie had crossing lines of chain stitching in white which formed 2-inch checks.

A simple tea frock entirely different is a negligee which might be characterized as a tea frock, so simple is it in line. It is a short slipover of claret satin, flares at the back and front, leaving the fullness to be concentrated at the sides. Sleeves, cut in one with the main portion, are very full, but so draped as to fit the wrist closely. The only trimming applied consists of small squares of oriental embroidery, just above the waistline at the front.

ABOUT GAS RATES

Editor Dispatch:

Being one of those present at the so called gas meeting at the court house Friday evening, I was impressed by the fact that so far as high prices are concerned the war is still on. The council committee had hurriedly gathered data on prices charged in other places, some larger and others very much smaller than Brainerd, but the prices proposed here were heard and shoulders above them all. For instance, in Duluth the rate is 75c per 1000 Duluth however has the advantage of the minimum transportation cost on raw material used in the manufacture of gas. Minneapolis whose coal and oil are undoubtedly for the most part shipped via Duluth and then by rail, a larger haul than would be the case here, are charging $1.29. Other cities, about size of Brainerd, still more reasonable rates than that proposed here. Another proposition, that strikes me as being most unfair is the service charge. If I understand the matter correctly, we will be called on to pay 50c per month, or $6.00 a year for the privilege of having the basement wall decorated with a tin contraption known as a meter. The minimum charge proposed is $1.00 per month, to be paid whether we use any gas or not, strikes me as being a sufficient guarantee of good faith on the part of the consumer.

I understood the council committee to state that so far they had heard of no city or hamlet anywhere where this apparently new system of coin extraction was in vogue.

The spokesman for the Gas Company practically admitted that a large portion of the overhead expenses, such as office force and employees generally would be almost the same whether they served 400 or 1000 consumers. I am of the opinion that if the proposed gas rate will be charged, the general public will be obliged to worry along without gas and keep the homefires burning with kerosene oil and jack pine, of which there seems to be an inexhaustible supply, and the gas users will be confined only to those who may be able to pass the additional cost on to their customers.

If this publication proves to be correct, it is evident that the Gas Company's dividends would be few and far between even if the rates were higher than proposed.

Respectfully,
EDW. ANDERSON

ON GAS QUESTION

The writer was not present at the so-called "gas" meeting Friday evening but read with pleasure in the Brainerd Dispatch that the sentiment expressed by those present was favorable. Before the meeting I heard several people express themselves as opposed to gas for Brainerd, or in other words, the granting of such a franchise. I cannot for the life of me understand why individuals should be opposed to anything that is for the betterment and convenience of our citizens. I fully believe that most of the opposition is voiced by people who never used gas and never intend to do so. I do believe that when our city council grants a gas franchise it will see to it that it is a good fair contract to both parties. I have that confidence in our city council and I sincerely hope that such a franchise will be granted. The sooner the better. Any public utility that provides convenience for our people is a good thing for our city.

J. H. KREKELBERG.

Announce Wedding

BOOKLET DESCRIBES STATE LAKE REGION

An illustrated booklet, prepared by the Northern Pacific, Minnesota & International and Big Fork & International Falls railroads, and descriptive of Minnesota's lake region, has just been issued. The booklet will be ready for general distribution shortly, according to G. F. McNeill, assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific. The cover of the booklet is done in colors, depicting a Minnesota lake view. The interior of the book contains numerous illustrations, a chapter devoted to Minneapolis and St. Paul, another chapter on the lake park region, detailed information concerning hotel rates, kinds of fish and miscellaneous information concerning individual lakes, together with a lake map.

ROUND LAKE NEAR MILE LACS

G. Roth of Boonville, Indiana, has arrived at the Linden House for his summer vacation.

Dr. Wade of Minneapolis who has bought the Miles Point is putting up some nice cottages and remodeling the house.

M. Smythe has bought the Week's property.

J. B. Nelson of Roseau, Minn. gave his sister Mrs. J. N. Francis a pleasant surprise. He had not been at her home for 23 years.

The Scenic Highway is being opened up very fast in Aitkin county.

Miss Isabel and Myrtle Reem, of Cutler, were calling on friends in this vicinity recently.

There will be many improvements at the Linden House this season. A bath house built, buildings painted, all fixed up in nice shape inside and out and two large gardens added. Meals will be served on Sundays and other days.

Entertain Lodge Members

About forty Knights and Lady Pythian Sisters were entertained Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Paine and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smiley at their home on West Bluff avenue. Cards and dancing were enjoyed and a bounteous lunch was served.

HIGH COST OF NEWSPAPERS

(St. Cloud Journal Press)

The Stearns County Leader, after a heroic struggle, has suspended publication. It says that the suspension may be temporary, but the probabilities are that it will be permanent.

The publisher complains that farmers did not pay their notes or post dated checks, and many of them were so hard up that they did not renew their subscription. This is not true in the case of the Journal-Press. Its farmer subscribers are prompt in their payments, and it has received many new subscribers from the farmers the present year, for which it is pleased to express its appreciation for their loyal support.

The Leader, in its farewell message well says:

"While the Leader has enjoyed a large circulation yet it cannot exist on that source of revenue. At present prices of everything entering into the making of a newspaper, two dollars per year for subscription barely pays the cost of production of that paper. It certainly leaves no profit."

The Leader was an eight-page paper, part of the time using patent insides, published once a week. It gave its readers 52 issues a year, or 416 pages in all, at a trifle less than one-half cent a page. The Journal-Press is a daily, issued six times a week, of from eight to twelve pages, and occasionally sixteen. Omitting six holidays, it is issued 306 times a year, with an average of over nine pages, making a total of nearly 3,000 pages a year, at a cost of $5 by mail. This is one-sixth of a cent a page. The price of the Leader per page was nearly three times more than that of the Journal-Press, and yet the Leader finds after a hard experience it could not pay expenses. We make this comparison, as there is an occasional farmer who is under the impression that the subscription of the Journal-Press should be reduced.

The Leader was not under the expense of a news service, and it cribbed its local news from the daily papers of the city, and was relieved of the expense of reporters. The Journal-Press receives the complete telegraph service of the United Press, which costs a lot of money, it has a city editor and two reporters to gather the local news, and it gives its readers not only all the important news of the world, but all the city and country news every day.

The cost of white paper alone is a tremendous item and prices are now double what they were before the war. The wages of its printers and other employees have been greatly increased in the past three years, and have not been reduced.

No one would welcome a reduction in prices more than newspaper publishers, and would be glad to pass it along to its subscribers. But when a paper receiving three times as high subscription price as the Journal-Press turns up its cold toes to the dailies, we are sure no subscriber can accuse us of profiteering.

eral fire protection work in the headwaters of navigable streams in the state, from the Federal forest service, United States Department of Agriculture.

This is the maximum amount of Federal aid given any state, and the allotment is based on the needs and upon the efforts put forth by the state forestry department during the past fiscal year. The allotment is directly the result of the successful work of the department in combating fires during the past year, and a recognition of the state's progressive attitude in forestry work.

There is many a heavily burdened tax payer who will heartily endorse the following from the Benson Monitor:

"The taxload is reaching the limit, not only of endurance, but ability to pay. School, village, city, township, county, state and national authorities had best become cognizant of that fact and do something about it, because the suffering public is rapidly reaching a mood where it will force action shortly."

Unemployment increased approximately one-half of one per cent during May, according to a statement made public by the department of labor at Washington. St. Paul showed an increase of 13.3 per cent in employment during the month, while Minneapolis remained among the cities where unemployment is still increasing, falling off 1.7 per cent.

News from Washington is to the effect that Edward Rustad of Wheaton, former state senator, has been agreed upon by Senators Nelson and Kellogg for United States marshal in Minnesota, and that his appointment will shortly be announced by President Harding.

The trade tour of Duluth business men up the M. & I. Ry. and throughout the northwestern part of the state, scheduled for June 19, reference to which was made in these columns on Friday, has been postponed. It was decided that the time is not opportune for such a tour. The trip will probably be made in the fall.

The strong stand taken against a sales tax on the necessities of life, such as food, fuel and clothing, by the American Federation of Labor, coupled with the avowed opposition of the farmers against such a tax, will result, it is thought, in the failure of passage of the proposed general sales tax bill.

A number of St. Paul men are interested in a big farming project to be launched in Northern Minnesota. They have acquired control of a big section of land on the Cloquet river which will be divided into stock farms and stocked with cattle, hogs and sheep.

Through the efforts of Congressman Knutson a postoffice was re-established at Barrows, a small town four miles south of Brainerd, on Wednesday last, by the postoffice department. The office was discontinued several years ago.

Moody's Last Sermon.

Dwight L. Moody preached the last sermon of his life in Kansas City in Convention hall on the night of November 16, 1890. He had undertaken to conduct revival meetings in the hall from November 12 to 19, but on the night of November 16 he became so ill that the next afternoon he gave up the meetings and returned home. He died at his home in Northfield, Mass., December 22, 1890.

4 TH JULY MONSTER PARADE

Elks Committees Working Like Trojans to Bring a Large Crowd to Brainerd on Fourth

TOWNSHIPS CAPTAINS NAMED
Every Young Man and Woman Who Can Ride Asked to Take Part in the Morning Parade

Plans for the monster Fourth of July celebration the Elks are sponsoring for Brainerd, are rapidly progressing towards a successful termination. Various Elks committees are working like Trojans and nothing will be left undone to make the Fourth the biggest and best day in the whole history of the city.

Besides the Rhoda Royal circus, which will be the big feature of the celebration, the Elks are planning to have at least two airplanes here for the day to take visitors riding high up in the clouds. Arrangements are now being perfected with Minneapolis aviators.

Then there will be the morning parade. This street pageant will be a regular eye-opener to the residents of Brainerd. In addition to the regular circus parade the Elks will endeavor to have all civic, fraternal and union organizations, war veterans, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, etc., in line and will make a special effort to have a monster country delegation.

Within a few days captains will be appointed in every township in the county to organize mounted delegations for the parade. Every young man and woman who can ride and who can get a horse, will be asked to take part in the parade. The mounted people will be formed in townships in charge of their various captains. A prize will be awarded the township having the largest number of mounted people in line.

The Elks have numerous other parade novelties in contemplation the details of which will soon be made public by Chairman Clyde E. Parker.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS

In the case of E. R. Burns vs. Wilkins & Pettyjohn, concerning the sale by plaintiff of timber furnished for guard rails on highways, the jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $198. D. B. McAlpine of Ironton represented the plaintiff and Walter F. Wieland the defendants.

In the case of Tony Bohke vs. Alice L. Ward, the jury found for the plaintiff for $155.80. Alderman Clark represented the plaintiff and A. Albright the defendant.

It was found necessary Saturday to call a special venire.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR JOHN MAHLUM

Simple, Impressive Services Stir the Hearts of Hundreds at Funeral on Sunday Afternoon

REV. S. M. KELLY OFFICIATED
Services Held at the Home from Spacious Porch, Friends Seated and Standing on Lawn

A military funeral, simple but solemn and impressive, was accorded the war hero John Mahlum on Sunday afternoon and the services at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mons Mahlum, were held from the porch, Rev. S. M. Kelly officiating. Rev. S. M. Kelly said in part:

Friends were seated on the lawn and back of these came rows of soldiers and friends of the family a half block space. Rev. S. M. Kelly gave a touching, eloquent address. A quartet composed of A. C. Mraz, S. F. Alderman, Harry Fullerton and Roland Jenkins sang "The Vacant Chair" and the "Lord is My Shepherd." Miss Marie Koop played the accompaniment.

We are gathered here today to pay a last tribute of respect to a comrade who has "gone west." Sergeant-Major John M. Mahlum was born in the city of Brainerd Sept. 24, 1891, was a graduate of the local high school and of the Law school of Georgian University of Washington, D. C.; enlisted July 30, 1917 and died in France on December 22, 1918, at which time he was attached to the First Army Hqs., A. E. F.

Inasmuch as he was much better known to most of you than to me it would seem more appropriate for me rather to ask you to emulate the example set by such as he, than to attempt anything in the nature of a eulogy of the dead. There are thousands of homes in America today like the one in which we meet. Homes that have a vacant chair, silent reminders to those within the family circle of devotion, even unto death, to a noble and a glorious cause.

A decade ago men were happy in the progress that humanity had made, we gloried in the achievement of our hands, the inventions of our skill and in the developments of the arts and sciences. We were beginning to lose sight of some of the cardinal principles of Christian Faith, or if we did recognize them we accepted them as the foibles of those who did not accept the more modern point of view. Then something happened. Out of the clear blue sky there came a war cloud, at first no bigger than a man's hand, but increasing in volume and force until it became a world tragedy. For two and one half years America was little more than an interested spectator, interested because of the different racial stocks that gave bent to our population, and then we too entered the arena. Then the old cardinal Christian Doctrine of "Vicarious Suffering" came to have a new meaning for us. We came to see and understand the necessity for some men to suffer and to die if our civilization was to be saved.

The silent bier around which we gather today calls eloquently to us to re-dedicate ourselves to those principles that are the true foundation of the peace, progress and prosperity, both as individuals and nations.

We might say many complimentary things of him who has passed to his reward; we might try with words of human comfort to cheer those who see the vacant chair in the home, but surely nothing that could be said could bring greater comfort and cheer than the knowledge that when the test of true manhood came, the call to service of God and country, John M. Mahlum was not found wanting.

Let us all, then, pledge ourselves to a new allegiance to those things for which he gave his service and his life.

The pallbearers were Clyde E. Parker, Walter Koop, Dick Johnson, Stewart Mills, Kirk Smith, Quinn Parker, all service men who had been intimate friends of the deceased.

With the flag bearer and two guards at the head, the funeral cortege included the Brainerd Municipal band, followed by the firing squad in charge of O. A. Peterson, the hearse and pallbearers and the service men in charge of Captain A. A. Gierle, followed by cars carrying relatives and fifty or more cars with friends of the dead soldier.

At the cemetery there was this prayer by the chaplain, Rev. A. C. Smith, address by F. R. N. Anderson, commander of the American Legion Post, the salute of the firing squad, concluding with the sounding of taps.

Sweet Innocence.

"My wife is talking about raising some 'Jack' roses." "That so?" "Yes; she asked me last night if I couldn't get her a few Jack pots to put 'em in."—Boston Transcript

"FARMER" EDITOR ON VISIT HERE

Miss Anna Harper, Editor of Household Department of Farm Paper, Writes Experiences

COMMUNITY LIFE IS PRAISED
Each of 29 Farmers' Clubs in County is Center of Friendliness and Good Fellowship

Miss Anna Harper, editor of the "Household Department" in the "Farmer" of May 28, referred to as one of the greatest farm papers of the northwest, has an article in that issue referring to her recent visiting with farmers' clubs of Crow Wing county. Under the caption of "Playing and Working Together," she says in part:

"The farmers and farmers' wives of Crow Wing county, Minn., know the meaning of community spirit, for there are 29 Farmers' Clubs in the county and each is a center of friendliness and good fellowship.

"A few days ago I had the opportunity of attending the May meeting of three of these Farmers' Clubs and I found in every instance that the women of the community were active in community affairs.

"At Nokay Lake, a successful social had just been held which provided young and old a delightful evening. The women of this Farmers' Club were particularly interested in better health for their children, better schools and more wholesome community recreation.

"At the Oak Lawn Farmers' Club, the women members were heartily lending their encouragement to the proposed installation of lines which would make electrical power available to the entire community. In their mind's eye they saw this unseen helper tirelessly providing power for running the pump, the churn, the separator and the washing machine, as well as furnishing light for the house, the yards and the barn and heat for the electric iron.

"At Fort Ripley, mothers and fathers and boys and girls all enjoyed a community sing together, and one gray-haired man exclaimed, 'That's the first time I've sung in twenty years.'

"The community welfare is assured when the entire family meets with the members of other families to play together and to plan community enterprises. The mothers' part is to quietly guide these activities along wholesome lines."

INTERPRETS RULE FOR AUTO LIGHTS

"Any device which either cuts off the light that would rise above the level of the filament or that bends this light down so that it does not rise above the level of the filament will comply with the provisions of the automobile dimmer law," according to an interpretation by J. E. Markham, assistant attorney general in the office of Attorney General Hilton.

The 1921 legislature amended the laws to provide that the light be sufficient "to make clearly discernible on a level road a person, vehicle or other substantial object at least 200 feet in the direction the motor is proceeding," and: "no person shall use or cause to be used after July 1, 1921, on any motor vehicle operated on any street or public highway any headlights equipped with a reflector, unless the reflector or glass in front of such lights to so etched, ground, molded or constructed that the lighted filament shall appear blurred or be free from brilliant luster."

Election Today in Minneapolis
Minneapolis, June 13—Minneapolis was choosing a new mayor today.

The choice was between George E. Leach, a colonel in the world war, and Thomas Van Lear, former mayor, previously elected as a socialist.

Since the primary last month, Minneapolis voters have been bombarded with more propaganda than ever before in a municipal election.

Newspapers supporting Col. Leach have spared no word to paint Van Lear in various colors, from communistic carmine to deepest black.

The press supporting Van Lear has spared no effort to try and convince the voters that Leach is a servant of "big business" and at the same time has attempted to refute all accusations against their candidate.

Leach and Van Lear were nominated out of a field of eight in the primary. Van Lear polled more votes than Leach in the primary.

Leach was commandant of the First Minnesota field artillery during the world war. Since his return he has been made a brigadier general in the state guard.

In addition to the mayoralty, the voters are to decide on aldermen and other city officials.

Easier Credit Conditions

Prevail in Country

(United Press)

St. Paul, June 13—Easier credit conditions now prevail throughout the country, John R. Mitchell, of St. Paul, member of the federal reserve board, said today. It was his first visit here since his recent appointment.

Cattle and farm industries in the northwest will not suffer this year because of lack of credit, he asserted.

"Finance and business interests are optimistic about the future," Mitchell declared. "Even the present decline in the New York stock market is not causing any alarm."

VEILS ARE WORN IN PARIS

Face Coverings Important and Many of the Smartest Hats Are Draped With Mesh.

At the moment in Paris, veils are extremely important, and many of the smartest hats depend almost entirely on the placement of their veil for chic. In consequence, veiling houses are making novelties that are interesting.

One of the most striking has the shape of a semi-circle, to be worn round the front of the hat, veiling the eyes and sometimes the mouth. Another is square-shaped, with a long end at one corner that is supposed to fall from the side of the hat; and others are various shapes, with ends or tails to be draped from the hat, all of them embroidered mesh.

One small circular veil is plain mesh with its edge finished by a triangular border made of heavier cord mesh, and one longer triangle, about six inches long, to fall over one side of the hat.

An Egyptian veil of filet mesh with embroidered chiffon border is caught under the chin. The mesh is in such shades as ecru, brown or black, with the chiffon border of pale pink or white chiffon.

"STARTLED FAWN"

Carlisle Indian School Graduate is Famous Bareback Rider in Circus

At last Hiawatha has come into her own.

Rhoda Royal, who is bringing his big circus to Brainerd for the Elks July Fourth celebration announces that he has a real Indian maiden bareback rider.

Her name is "Startled Fawn" although she prefers to be known as Gertrude Harrison, and she is a graduate of Carlisle Indian school. With the circus, assisted by several other riders, she gives a wonderful exhibition of equestrianism.

"Startled Fawn" is a full blooded Sioux. Her home is near Gordon, Nebraska, in the Sioux reservation and her grandfather, old Chief "Iron Bull", ninety-six years old, uses a hearse for a family carriage. "Fawn's father is Eddie "Redwing" and for uncle she has Frank "Spotted Tail" and John "Plenty Wounds."

"Everybody laughs when they hear the names of my relatives and learn that grandfather drives around in a hearse instead of a carriage" said Miss Harrison recently. "And all this needs a bit of explanation. You see the peculiar names come naturally. When a child is born in the Sioux reservation, he, or she, is named after the first unusual thing the father sees. The day I came into the world father looked out of the door and saw a fawn. The little thing became scared and bounded away with its mother. Forthwith I became "Startled Fawn".

"When my Uncle John 'Plenty Wounds' was born his father noticed an Indian who has been in an encounter with an enraged bear and had gotten rather the worst of the argument. The Indian was covered with cuts and scratches and Uncle John was called 'Plenty Wounds'.

"Grandfather uses a hearse for a carriage because he thinks it is the proper thing. All the relatives are thrust inside, grandfather wraps himself in a blanket, puts on a silk hat and does the driving. I have had many an enjoyable ride in the old hearse."

"The Spoilers Today at the New Park Theatre

It is not often that people request time after time to bring back a picture as old as the "Spoilers" but this is one of the very few pictures which live always, in this picture Welz Farum does the greatest acting of his life. The fight in this is something which has and will be talked about for years. If you have or have not seen this come, its another of those perfect entertainments.

Tomorrow and Wednesday Bill Hart is due to entertain with his latest film "The Toll Gate" which everyone says is by far the best thing he has ever done.

Powdered Fish Good Food.

A great many fish are caught merely for the recovery of the oil contained in their bodies and after this is pressed out, the residue or what is called "cake," is used for fertilizer. A Japanese investigator has succeeded in making this available as a food and it is said to be very nourishing after the treatment which he gives it. It takes the place of "stock" in making soups and gravies.

Paige Makes a Clean Sweep

Breaks Every Official Stock Chassis Record From 5 to 100 Miles at Uniontown Track

The Paige triumph is now complete.

From 5 to 100 miles, all world's official speed records for a stock chassis were captured by the Paige "6-66" Daytona Model at the Uniontown, Pa., track May 29th, 1921.

Following a world's stock chassis record made January 21st, when the Paige "6-66" Daytona model covered a measured mile in 35.01 seconds, the Uniontown performance caps the climax to a long series of amazing records.

Paige, thus, has made a clean sweep and stands today the unchallenged master of power and speed—the supreme and unique example among automotive products for heroic stamina and endurance.

When the mile record fell in January, Paige determined to make the record complete. With the officials of the A.A.A. racing board in charge, the track at Uniontown, Pa., was selected and Mulford driving a Daytona "6-66" stock chassis was off to shatter records that had remained unassailable since July 28th, 1917.

A Clean Sweep

The first five miles were covered at a terrific pace, the electric timer recording 3 minutes, 15.48 seconds, a speed of 91.8 miles an hour.

From there on the Paige came roaring over the official's wire with clock-like regularity that ate up the miles greedily. Twenty-five thirty, fifty minutes went by and there was no noticeable slackening of speed.

When the Paige thundred across the tape at the end of the 100th mile the feat had been accomplished.

In the most consistent performance ever recorded the records had fallen. The five, ten, twenty, twenty-five, fifty, seventy-five, 100-mile and One-Hour records had been beaten in every instance by a handsome margin.

The official figures showed that Paige had covered the full century in one hour, 6 minutes and 53.26 seconds, or 89 miles, 1510 yards in 60 minutes—which is just 250 yards less than 90 miles. The former hour record was 83 miles.

And now for a brief review of "6-66" history.
